JSTC has been judged as good and outstanding by Ofsted for over 10 years and our consistent success is one of our greatest strengths; we continue to make progress and the school achieved strong results once again this year.

The Science department comprises five labs. It is well resourced and supported by experienced technicians. Science is a successful department, contributing strongly to the new Progress 8 performance measure. The team has a blend of experience and is well placed for continued success. Strong and consistent standards have been achieved through high expectations in a friendly environment. Our last Ofsted inspection recognised our support for students and noted the "warm and respectful atmosphere in which students' many successes are celebrated".

As well as a focus on academic standards, students are supported by excellent pastoral care along with numerous extra-curricular activities including the Duke of Edinburgh Award Scheme and Young Enterprise. We have a positive reputation in the community and take students from a wide area as a result of parental choice. We are currently significantly over-subscribed due to parental choice.

The school has been successful in obtaining government funding and over recent years has added a new teaching block, a floodlit astro-turf, redesigned canteen, a new Performing Arts studio and redeveloped Science, English and Humanities classrooms. We have ambitious plans for the future.

John Spendluffe is now seeking to recruit a Science Teacher. The new member of staff will become part of a talented and supportive team. They will work in a supportive environment with an offer of excellent professional development and genuine opportunities for professional growth. The school is a member of the Lincolnshire Teaching School Alliance, and part of the core Strategy group, to support staff development and networking and is part of the Lincolnshire Learning Partnership.

If you require any further information or wish to discuss any aspect of the position please contact the Headteacher's Secretary, Fiona Smith, on 01507 464308 or Head of Science, John Bentley, on the main school number, 01507 462443. Alternatively please email f.smith@jstc.org.uk.
